Skills:

I'm a technology friendly person and always eager to learn the new things.

I'm a quick learner and a person who can effectively work under pressure and can be a person who can go along in teams also.

Being a Civil Engineering student I have thorough knowledge of Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics, Geology, Structural and Constructional Subjects.

While pursuing the degree in Civil Engineering I got acquainted with the subjects like Project Management which enabled me to learn the the process of leading the work of a team to achieve all project goals within the given constraints.

Also being a student of Law arena, I have to keep myself updated about current affairs and laws that are being formulated and things which affects the human life. Also I I learned the subjects in law like Alternative Dispute Resolution, Ethics and Professional conduct during the works, etc. These subjects helped me to gain the knowledge of the how to resolve the disputes among the teams and what professional conduct someone has to have, so that he can work effectively with maximum output in minimum resources availability.

While pursuing degrees in Civil Engineering and law, I tried my hands on competitive exams like UPSC and MPSC. During the preparation for these government exams, I have gained knowledge of different subjects that are different from science and law subjects.
