Skills:

I am proficient in English (Writing, Speaking, Reading, and Listening). Using SEO techniques, I can write error-free, quality, and captivating blog posts to entice the readers to take my desired action.

Since I have worked most of my life as a freelancer, I can be punctual, dedicated, and reliable. I can communicate with the clients and team members to submit the best project possible.

Additionally, I can search and find everything on the internet, which significantly help me write versatile copies.

Finally, I can manage websites using Joomla! and WordPress. Also, I can fine-tune them using my HTML and CSS skills.

Work Experience:

- Created copies for more than two years in different niches, including marketing, technology, and healthcare for American, European, and Indian businesses. Some of my sample works are presented in featured section of my LinkedIn Profile.
- Translated the “Loving Bravely” book written by Alexandra H. Solomon
- Translated the “Life Force” book written by Peter Diamandis and Tony Robbins
  - This was a pretty challenging task due to a tight deadline. But through dedication and teamwork, it turned out to be a pleasant and successful experience.
- English to Persian and Persian to English translation experience for six years.
- Experienced in documentary and series translation for prominent networks and companies
- Work experience in an import company
- Content creation experience for Tahlildadeh.com
- English teaching experience

Interests:

- Watching English educational documentaries, sitcoms, and movies.
- Following English TED podcasts, etc.
