Translation Experience

In-house Translator | A Translation Company in China 2012 - 2018

I once worked as an in-house translator for 6 years, and thus have rich experience in the translation process and quality control.

I know what customers are expecting for and what makes a good translator. A translator is easy to find, but a good translator, especially one that customers can trust and build a long-term partnership with, is not that easy to find.
