Profile

I am a student. I'm currently doing a master's degree in linguistics, so I'm confident in my English knowledge (my language level is approximately between C1 and C2, leaning towards the latter). I have experience in working with CAT-tools, primarily with MemoQ and Smartcat, but generally I'm a fast learner when it comes to software, thus, if needed, I can quickly learn any other CAT-tool on the go. I would say gaming is one of my biggest passions. I've been playing videogames since childhood, as well as dreaming of working in game industry since my teenage years. I've taken an interest in games localization during my final years of bachelor's degree in linguistics, and hence I've decided to pursue a career in games localization and make my old dream come true.
